About the C-BICS 2025

The Department of Bioinformatics & Biosciences (BI&BS) at Capital University of Science & Technology (CUST), Islamabad, is hosting the 13th edition of the International Conference on Biological and Computational Sciences (C-BICS) in 2025. Established in 2013, the BI&BS has consistently organized this event to bring together leading experts in biological research. C-BICS 2025 aims to join hands for innovations in biosciences to address the global challenges. By providing a platform for knowledge sharing and collaboration, the conference seeks to advance our understanding of living organisms, develop novel treatments and diagnostics, improve food production and environmental sustainability, and ultimately enhance quality of life. A particular focus this year will be to highlight the interaction of biological sciences with global challenges and real world applications to provide suitable interdisciplinary research environments.
